How We Provide Services

Inclusion and Empowerment are particularly important values when it comes to our collaborative partnership with families in providing service. Our staff are guided by the principles of Family Centred Practice which means we treat families with dignity and respect, sensitive to your unique needs and choices in making decisions. This also means sharing information sensitively and providing service that takes into account family goals.

We work to offer services flexibly, using formal and informal supports to build on family strengths. Through mutual trust, respect, open communication and finding solutions together we can best reach family goals.
